

Hatchery

Israeli start-up Soos developed a technique to alter the sex of embryos from male to female

Sustainability

UK poultry companies commit to reduce food waste by half by 2030

Interview

Dr Leon Marchal, innovations director at DuPont Animal Nutrition is intrigued by the impossible

POULTRY WORLD

Volume 36 - No. 9 - 2020

FARM REPORT

Regenerative farming with Eggmobile concept

CONTENTS ▶▶▶

- 12 Special form of C12 stimulates broiler growth
- 15 Israeli start-up Soos has developed a technique to alter the sex of embryos
- 17 Probiotics and the early microbiota
- 20 Six steps to become a broiler health champion
- 24 Reducing food waste by half by 2030
- 26 Thermal treatment eliminates pathogens in poultry meal

9 COVER STORY

On the farm of Angus McIntosh the chickens are housed in Eggmobiles and are moved daily to live off the land.

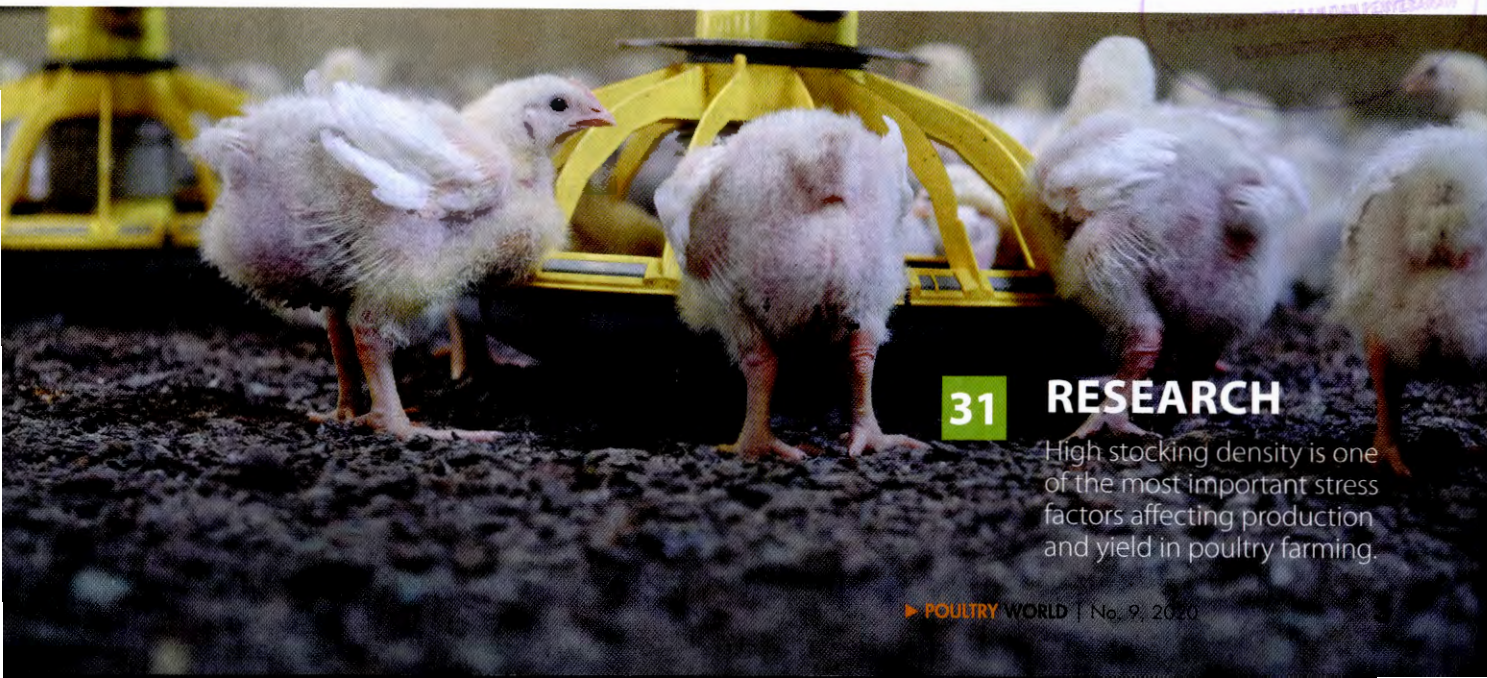

6 INTERVIEW

Dr Leon Marchal is innovation director at DuPont Nutrition & Biosciences and has an impressive track record in the food and feed industry. He has been active in research and product development in different parts of the food and feed industry for more than 20 years.

Tgl. terima : 15-12-2020
No. Induk :
Asal bahan Pustaka : Beth/Teknik/Hadiah
Dari :

MILIK KOLEKSI

31 RESEARCH

High stocking density is one of the most important stress factors affecting production and yield in poultry farming.