

THE HOPE & HYPE OF MOOCs

NextSPACE

www.oclc.org/nextspace

No. 23 June 2014
ISSN: 1559-0011

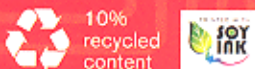

Editor
Tom Storey

Managing Editor
Andy Havens

Contributing Writers
Bryan Alexander, Courtney Henderson,
Brian Lavoie, Constance Malpas, Robert
Moropa, Jennifer Pearson

Design
Origo Branding Company

Photography
Carey Champoux, OCLC

NextSpace MC234
6565 Kilgour Place
Dublin, Ohio 43017-3395 USA
1-800-848-5878

Send questions, comments, subscription requests and address/contact updates to:
nextspace@oclc.org.

For more information about OCLC, including contacts for OCLC offices and affiliated partners, visit the OCLC website at:
www.oclc.org.

NextSpace is published by OCLC and is distributed at no charge. Its contents may be reproduced in whole or part provided that credit is given. An archive of NextSpace issues is available at www.oclc.org/nextspace/archive.

All products and services named in NextSpace are trademarks or service marks of their respective companies.

Contents

DEPARTMENTS

- | | |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|
| 8 YOURSPACE | 14 MEMBERSHIP UPDATE |
| 9 LABS | 16 PRODUCTS AND SERVICES |
| 10 200 WMS LIBRARIES LIVE | 18 ADVOCACY |
| 12 RESEARCH | 20 UPDATES |

FEATURES

COVER STORY

- 2 The hope and the hype of MOOCs
Do MOOCs truly represent a sea change for both public and academic libraries, or just a new twist on the distance learning profession?

EXPLORE: TRENDS THAT SHAPE OUR FUTURE

- 12 Right-scaling Stewardship: A Multi-scale Perspective on Cooperative Print
This new report from OCLC Research explores regional-scale cooperative print management from two perspectives: a local academic library print book collection and a consortial-scale collective print book resource.

SHARE: DATA, WORK, RESOURCES

- 16 Introducing WorldCat Discovery Services
This new suite of cloud-based applications brings together access for electronic, digital and physical collections in a single interface, optimized for use across desktops, laptops, tablets and smartphones.

MAGNIFY: THE IMPACT OF LIBRARIES

- 18 Making a place in the community
Public libraries are learning the art of placemaking by creating shared, fun entertainment events in their communities.

